HEADLINE R

VOLUME 2

NUMBER 5

JANUARY 1957

THE LAST WORD. . .warm New Year greetings to each member of the Staff Association from the executive board. We've had such fun working together and with all of you that we're reluctant (almost!) to pass on to others the responsibility and the pleasure of serving you all. We can't leave you without extending real appreciation to the many who gave us a Christmas party to be remembered. Literally everyone helped, but special thanks must go to ---

- . . .Al Remley, Helen Dubrick, Earlean Witcher, Mr. Burgess and Mr. Wiley for the truly beautiful Christmas tree decorating job! We'll regret seeing the tree come down.
- . . .Eleanor Phinney, Shizu Kasai, Mrs. Krol, Frances Frommherz, Molly Mahoney, Cora Beatty, Florence Simmons, Len Arnold, Leo Weins, Lee Gaertner, Evada McNary, Mildred Batchelder, Olive Duffy, Pat Woolway, Edith Krentz and Phyllis Maggeroli for planning, preparing and serving the delicious punch and other refreshments.
- . . .Peggy Blankley for getting our accordionist, Helen Kinsey for selecting our children's gift books, Harriet Holsman and Mildred Batchelder for making arrangements for the children's film and Yuri Nakata for pinch-hitting as projectionist.
- . . .and to Len Arnold, Eleanor Phinney, Dorothy Smith and Peggy Blankley for doing that inevitable job of cleaning up after the ball was over.

We can't forget David Easton who, red suit, beard and all, had the children charmed by his impersonation of Mr. Santa himself.

the generosity of Mr. Milam in sending us the magnificent scotch pine evergreen which has given us all so many days of pleasure nor

the steadfastness and imagination of Dorothy Smith, who as Chairman of the Social Committee this year had to keep dozens of balls going at one time and did it with her usual graciousness.

The last vocal words of your executive board will be heard at the annual staff association business meeting on Tuesday, January 8, at 4:15 in the Staff Lounge. This is the only general meeting of the year so we hope everyone who possibly can will be in attendance. Mark your calendar and we will see you then.
