Are you a children's librarian who has never attended an American Library Association (ALA) Annual Conference? Apply for The Charles Scribner's Sons Awards and you may be able to attend the ALA 1980 Conference in New York City.

The Scribner's awards are sponsored by the Association for Library Service to Children (ALSC) a division of ALA. These awards are monetary grants of $325 given to children's librarians who work directly with children in either a public or school library to be used to attend an ALA Annual Conference. Applicants must be a member of ALA and ALSC, have 1-10 years of experience as a children's librarian, and never have attended an ALA Annual Conference.

Four awards are annually given to two school librarians and two public library children's librarians. In 1980, two additional awards for school librarians will be available since they were not used in 1979.

For an application write ALSC office, American Library Association, 50 E. Huron St., Chicago, IL 60611. Completed applications must be received by the ALSC office by January 2, 1979.
