For immediate release

It was announced at the annual conference of the American Library Association in Dallas that Barbara J. Pruett, Head, Social Service/Social Science Collections and Services, Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., has been elected to serve on the ALA Council, the governing body of the association.

The American Library Association, the largest library association in the world, is holding its annual conference in Dallas, Texas, where some 11,000 librarians, writers, publishers, educators, and friends of libraries are attending over 1800 meetings.

Among the speakers at the conference are Nobel Laureate Isaac Bashevis Singer, economist John Kenneth Galbraith, author Jessica Mitford, author Shana Alexander, and many others. Also featured is the largest library trade show in the world.
