

News Release: American Library Association

Public Information Office
American Library Association
50 East Huron Street
Chicago, Illinois 60611
312 944-6780

From: Peggy Barber, Director
Public Information Office

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 1978

On September 1, the Association of Specialized and Cooperative Library Agencies began operation as the newest division of the American Library Association. ASCLA was formed by the merger of the Association of State Library Agencies (ASLA) and the Health and Rehabilitative Library Services Division (HRLSD).

The new division will have responsibility for state library agencies, multitype library cooperatives, and specialized libraries serving the needs of those persons whose access to information and materials has been limited by confinement, sensory, mental, physical, health, or behavioral conditions.

Sections in ASCLA include those concerned with library service to the blind and physically handicapped, to prisoners, and to the impaired elderly as well as the State Library Agency Section and the Multitype Library Cooperation Section. The Library Service to the Deaf Section and the Health Care Libraries Section are currently being organized.

Phyllis Dalton, a free-lance consultant from California, and Robert McClarren, Director of the North Suburban (Illinois) Library System, will serve as Co-Presidents of the new division. Ed Seidenberg of the Texas State Library is Vice-President/President-Elect.

-more-

add 1 - ASCLA

Release: American Library Association

For further information about the Association of Specialized and Cooperative Library Agencies and its activities, contact Sandra M. Cooper, Executive Secretary, ASCLA, American Library Association, 50 East Huron Street, Chicago, IL 60611.

-30-

From: Peggy Barber, Director
Public Information Office

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

September 1978

On September 1, the Association of Specialized and Cooperative Library Agencies began operation as the newest division of the American Library Association. ASCLA was formed by the merger of the Association of State Library Agencies (ASLA) and the Health and Rehabilitative Library Services Division (HRLSD).

The new division will have responsibility for state library agencies, multitype library cooperatives, and specialized libraries serving the needs of those persons whose access to information and materials has been limited by confinement, sensory, mental, physical, health, or behavioral conditions.

Sections in ASCLA include those concerned with library service to the blind and physically handicapped, to prisoners, and to the isolated elderly as well as the State Library Agency Section and the Multitype Library Cooperation Section. The Library Service to the Deaf Section and the Health Care Libraries Section are currently being organized.

Phyllis Bolton, a free-lance consultant from California, and Robert McClary, Director of the North Suburban (Illinois) Library System, will serve as Co-Presidents of the new division. Ed Seidenberg of the Texas State Library is Vice-President/President-Elect.

-more-