Hi, Angelica,

Thanks for your message. No, I never did meet Arnie Nixon. I think I first heard about him and the collection at ALA in San Francisco a few years ago, at the slide-show program at which you and a number of other curators gave overviews of your collections. I remember having to leave early for some reason and so did not have a chance to introduce myself to you then. Then a couple of years ago when I spoke at the annual Ohio State conference, I met one of your colleagues, Katie Reid (I think that's right), who told me more about the collection. Anyway, I would happy to take care of the autographing situation one day, and will look forward to our ALA program.

All best in the mean time--

Leonard
