Suzanne:

re your May 18 letter about the Newbery-Caldecott dinner:

Sorry, but I have no particular thoughts about alternatives to the N-C dinner.
Generally, I enjoy the event, and it's been my feeling that most people do. I can certainly understand the problem of time given to arrangements for the banquet. I see no objection to a presentation program including all components of the banquet (minus food) assuming that your investigations indicate that this would be of interest generally and that more people might be able to attend--or feel freer to attend.
