Dear Lena:

Thank you for giving me an opportunity to provide input on the Newbery-Caldecott Dinner. I favor another means of celebrating the awards. The dinner is too expensive. I know too many persons - ALSC members and non-members - who would like to hear the acceptance speeches, but cannot afford the dinner. Perhaps instead of the banquet, if it is decided that food is truly a significant part of the celebration, there can be a wine and cheese reception. The dinner is ponderous - the award-giving and the speeches are the heart of the event.

Good luck with your committee!
Sincerely,
Marilyn Greenberg
