The Association of College and Research Libraries announces the selection of six interns to participate in the fourth year of its program for administrators of predominantly black college and university libraries.

Funded by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, the program is intended to develop the management ability of librarians in black colleges and universities by providing them with experience in the administration of strong and progressive academic libraries.

The interns are: Virgia Brocks-Shedd, Reference-Serials Librarian, Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Mississippi; Alma Dawson, Head Periodicals Librarian, Prairie View A & M University, Prairie View, Texas; Doris M. Gosier, Head, Public Services, Fort Valley State College, Fort Valley, Georgia; George M. Martin, Librarian, Social Science Reading Room, Howard University, Washington, D.C.; Millie M. Parker, Head Librarian, Paine College, Augusta, Georgia; and Jean Frances Williams, Acquisitions Librarian, Virginia State College, Petersburg, Virginia.

During the period of the six-month internship, each intern will work closely with the director of a major academic library. The host institutions are: Mount Holyoke College, Oberlin College, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, and Virginia Commonwealth University. The Mellon Foundation grant provides salaries, benefits, and approved expenses. The host library provides training. Workshops for the participants are also planned.

- more -
Applications from librarians and prospective host institutions were reviewed by the project's advisory committee chaired by Virginia Lacy Jones, Dean, School of Library Service, Atlanta University. Other members of the committee are: Phyllis B. Cartwright, Florida International University, Miami; Richard M. Dougherty, University of California, Berkeley; Beverly P. Lynch, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle; James F. McCoy, Hudson Valley Community College, Troy, New York; Annette L. Phinazee, School of Library Science, North Carolina Central University, Durham; Katherine M. Stokes, Alexandria, Virginia; and David C. Weber, Stanford University. Casper L. Jordan, University Librarian, Atlanta University, serves as project director. Julie A. Carroll Virgo, ACRL Executive Secretary, is principal investigator.