FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

February 1976

Jane Wilson has been appointed International Relations Officer of the American Library Association according to a recent announcement by Robert Wedgeworth, ALA's Executive Director.

Ms. Wilson has a B.A. degree from the University of Illinois and a BLS from the University of California, School of Librarianship, Berkeley. Her professional career has included positions as Chief Acquisitions Librarian, Roosevelt University, Chicago; Assistant to the Director, University of Illinois Medical Center Library; and Acting Head, Department of Special Collections, University of California, Davis. She was librarian for the Asia Foundation in San Francisco, the California Historical Society, and also served as an Air Force Librarian in Europe.

Ms. Wilson has been active in the American Library Association, Freedom to Read Foundation, Special Libraries Association, and the Illinois and California Library Associations. She has traveled extensively and has been an active participant in ALA's international relations program.
