Primates: The Fearless Science of Jane Goodall, Dian Fossey, and Biruté Galdikas by Jim Ottaviani, illustrated by Maris Wicks
The stories of three scientists and their groundbreaking work in the field with chimpanzees, gorillas, and orangutans.

Save Yourself by Jeremy Whitley, illustrated by M. Goodwin
Princess Adrienne is no damsel in distress. Along with Sparky, her dragon, she will rescue herself and have a few adventures in the meantime. First in the Princeless series.

Trickster: Native American Tales: A Graphic Collection edited by Matt Dembicki
This collaborative effort by more than 40 writers and artists presents 21 Native American trickster tales in graphic-novel format.

Twin Spica by Kou Yaginuma
Asumi wants to be part of Japan’s first manned space mission. Does she have what it takes? First in the Twin Spica series.

Ultimate Comics Spider-Man by Brian Michael Bendis, illustrated by Sara Pichelli Miles Morales is just a regular high-school student in Brooklyn . . . until he gets bitten by a radioactive spider. Can he live up to the responsibility and become the new Spider-Man in the wake of Peter Parker’s demise? First in the Ultimate Comics Spider-Man series.

A Wrinkle in Time: The Graphic Novel by Madeleine L’Engle, adapted and illustrated by Hope Larson
Three children, with the help of some unusual guardians, travel across time and space to save their father and our universe.

Zebrafish by Sharon Emerson, illustrated by Renée Kurilla
Vita and the members of her rock band, Zebrafish, raise money to help the children’s hospital where one band member is receiving cancer treatments.
The Adventures of Superhero Girl
by Faith Erin Hicks
A hilarious look at a young superhero who can both battle villains and deal with an ordinary world.

Anne Frank: The Anne Frank House Authorized Graphic Biography
written by Sid Jacobson and Ernie Colón
Drawing on the unique historical sites, archives, and expertise of the Anne Frank House in Amsterdam, this authorized biography is the complete account of the lives of Anne’s parents, her first years in Frankfurt, the rise of Nazism, her life in the annex, and her arrest and tragic death in Bergen-Belsen.

Anya’s Ghost
by Vera Brossol
When Russian American teenager Anya falls down a well and meets the ghost of a girl who was killed, they become fast friends as Emily helps Anya, and Anya vows to solve Emily’s murder.

The Arrival
by Matt Phelan
Zeina’s parents have not returned from visiting the other half of divided Beirut during the civil war in Lebanon. Zeina gathers with neighbors in the safest place in the apartment, where they play games, talk, and support one another.

Astronaut Academy: Zero Gravity
by Dave Roman
Former space superhero Hakata Soy goes back to boarding school at the Astronaut Academy, where he takes classes like Antigravity Gymnastics and Tactical Randomness and gets to know the other students. First in a series.

A Bag of Marbles: The Graphic Novel
by Joseph Joffo, illustrated by Vincent Bailly Brothers Joseph and Maurice must leave their family behind and flee Paris to survive as the Nazis occupy France and World War II unfolds.

Best Shot in the West: The Adventures of Nat Love
by Patricia C. McKissack, illustrated by Frederick L. McKissack
When Coraline steps through a secret door in her house, she finds a marvelous new world much better than her own. However, when her “other mother” wants to keep her there forever, she must use her wits and the help of an all-knowing cat to return to the real world in this graphic-novel version of Gaiman’s popular title.

Bluffton: My Summers with Buster
by Matt Phelan
A wordless but very moving story about a boy who was raised by a man who has just arrived in a new city in a world not unlike our own.

Broxo
by Zack Giallongo
In this fantasy, Broxo lives alone until the day Princess Zora arrives. The two of them embark on quests and adventures with swords at the ready to defeat the undead.

Cardboard
by Doug TenNapel
A simple birthday gift of a cardboard box turns into something more when a boy and his father discover that whatever they make out of the box is capable of coming to life! Also recommended by this author: Ghostopolis (2010) and Bad Island (2011).

Coraline
by Neil Gaiman, illustrated by P. Craig Russell
When Coraline steps through a secret door in her house, she finds a marvelous new world much better than her own. However, when her “other mother” wants to keep her there forever, she must use her wits and the help of an all-knowing cat to return to the real world in this graphic-novel version of Gaiman’s popular title.

Curses! Foiled Again
by Jane Yolen, illustrated by Mike Cavallaro Aila Carstairs and her wheelchair-bound cousin, Caroline, must defend the fairy kingdom from the realm of Seelie. Sequel to Foiled (2010).

El Deafo
by Ceece Bell
An autobiographical story about growing up deaf in a hearing world and the superpowers it takes to fit in.

Friends with Boys
by Faith Erin Hicks
A young homeschooler transplants to high school, along with the mystery of the ghost who has followed her most of her life.

Gaijin: American Prisoner of War
by Matt Faulkner
Biracial American Koji Miyamoto struggles to stay alive to himself during his time as an American prisoner of war in an internment camp during WWII.

Gailjin: American Prisoner of War
by Matt Faulkner
Biracial American Koji Miyamoto struggles to stay alive to himself during his time as an American prisoner of war in an internment camp during WWII.

Hereville: How Mirka Got Her Sword
by Barry Deutsch
Mirka Herschberg lives in an Orthodox Jewish family and dreams of fighting dragons. A witch appears and issues a challenge, giving Mirka the chance she has always wanted: to attend the Hereville series, which also includes Hereville: How Mirka Met a Meteorite (2012).

Jellaby: The Lost Monster
by Kean Soo
Portia is having a hard time fitting in at school. Her life takes a sudden turn for the interesting after she finds a large purple monster in the woods. First of the Jellaby series.

Kampung Boy
by Lat
This semiautobiographical story traces the escapades of the author and his siblings and friends in 1960s California as they grow from infants to teens.

Marble Season
by Gilbert Hernandez
A factionalized memoir of a youth spent in post-Mao China. By turns touching, funny, and smart, this graphic novel offers a slice of life in a distant country.

Nothing Can Possibly Go Wrong
by Prudence Shen, illustrated by Faith Erin Hicks
This year’s student-body election is pitting nerds against jocks in class warfare! If Charlie wins, the cheerleaders get new uniforms. If Nate wins, the robotics club stays funded.

Page by Paige
by Laura Lee Gulledge
When Paige’s family relo-...