ALA COA announces accreditation action

The American Library Association (ALA) Committee on Accreditation (COA) has announced action to accredit, under the 1972 "Standards for Accreditation," the following graduate program of library education leading to the first degree: Master of Science in Library Science, Palmer School of Library and Information Science, Long Island University. The action was taken during the 1993 ALA Midwinter Meeting in Denver, January 22-28.

The committee also announced action to continue the accreditation of the following graduate programs of library education leading to the first professional degree: Master of Library and Information Studies, Master of Arts in Library and Information Studies, School of Library and Information Studies, University of Oklahoma, and Master of Library Science, School of Library and Information Science, San Jose State University.

Those wishing more information about a particular program, or information concerning the COA report on the program, should contact the school.
