ANSS Sociology Librarians Discussion Group

Rui Wang and Jeff Lacy, new discussion group co-conveners, convened the Sociology Discussion Group at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, January 26. Twenty-two people were in attendance. The two invited speakers, Julie Petr (Social Sciences Librarian at the University of Kansas) and Adam Beauchamp (Research and Instruction Librarian at Tulane University), presented for approximately fifteen minutes each on their experiences developing library instruction programs for sociology students. Both speakers used the provided laptop/projector for visual aids and slides. For the remainder of the hour, Julie and Adam responded to questions and comments. The co-conveners used the last few minutes of the session to solicit topics for the next discussion group meeting at ALA Annual.
