Anthropology Discussion Group
2014 ALA Annual Conference, Las Vegas, NV

TOPIC

Hidden Histories, Hidden Las Vegas:
Archaeology, Museums, and Ancient Southern Nevada

Date: Sunday, June 29, 2014

Time: 4:30-5:30 p.m.

Venue: Las Vegas Convention Center

Agenda

1. Call for meeting recorder
2. Welcome and Introductions
3. Speaker – Molly Fierer-Donaldson
Curator/Archaeologist
Lost City Museum - Overton, NV

Dr. Fierer-Donaldson has been a part of archaeological excavations throughout the Americas. In addition to Maya sites in Central America, she has done work in Bolivia, Peru, California, Arizona, and Massachusetts. After graduate school she shifted into museums with projects on Mimbres and Hohokam ceramics and Maya textiles from Guatemala, which led to her current position as the curator/archaeologist at the Lost City Museum.

Left off many maps of the prehistory of the southwest, Southern Nevada was an area in which multiple cultures lived, thrived, and interacted. Ancestral Puebloans left the largest body of evidence, but the area saw habitation by Patayan people from the south, Fremont people from the Great Basin, and even Mohave from California. As in many border areas, there is evidence for interaction in the form of trade and exchange between the groups, though it remains an open question whether the communities were multi-ethnic, and to what degree. Identifying ethnicity or group identity within the archaeological record is central to the study of Southern Nevada and the issue continues to be debated and contested by archaeologists the world over.

4. Group Discussion
5. Discussion of possible future topics
6. Adjournment

ANSS Criminology & Criminal Justice Discussion Group

Preliminary Agenda:

Date: Saturday, 28 June 2014

Time: 3:00 to 4:00 pm

Location: Las Vegas Convention Center N203

- A. Welcome and Introductions: Rosalind Fielder
- B. Request for volunteer to take notes
- C. Introduce Speaker
- D. Questions and answers
- E. Any suggestions or requests for future topics for discussion group
- F. Thank everyone for attending

The speaker for the discussion group is Susie Skarl from UNLV (University of Nevada at Las Vegas).

Susie's topic is: "More than Just the Facts: Engaging Library Users in Telling the Story through Multidisciplinary Resources."

In the 1950s TV show and late 1987 movie, "Dragnet," Detective Sergeant Joe Friday stated, "All we want are the facts." While facts and figures are vital to criminal justice research with students, faculty, and public patrons, there are a myriad of criminological, historical, sociological, business, government, scholarly, and popular culture resources that can engage library users with exploring the rest of the story.

The discussion will focus on using multidisciplinary resources to engage library users into investigating and telling the rest of a criminal story. Discussion ideas include strategies on how to adapt this idea for undergraduates & graduates, receiving buy-in from faculty members, and assessing the effectiveness of this approach.

2014 ALA Annual Conference Sociology Librarian Discussion Group Meeting Agenda

Saturday, June 28 10:30-11:30

Co-Conveners: Jeff Lacy, Humanities Librarian, University of Texas San Antonio; Rui Wang, Social Sciences Librarian, Central Michigan University

Face-to-face participation: Las Vegas Convention Center – N202

Online participation: <https://global.gotomeeting.com/meeting/join/819880061> Meeting ID:819-880-061

1. Introduction (2 minutes)

2. Presentation #1: (20 minutes)

What's the Problem?: Student Centered Learning in Social Sciences Library Instruction by Janna Mattson, Social Sciences Liaison Librarian and Mary Oberlies, Social Sciences Librarians at George Mason University

Mary and Janna will present efforts to address student engagement and instructional assessment needs led two social science librarians to develop instruction session using problem-based instruction (PBI). They will describe the implementation of PBI for upper level undergraduate library instruction in conflict resolution and criminology; share preliminary data gathered using formal and authentic assessment tools, and next steps.

3. Presentation #2 (20 minutes)

One-shot Library Instruction, Not One-shot Assessment: A Conceptual Approach by Rui Wang, Social Sciences Librarian at Central Michigan University

One-shot library instruction for social science courses is quintessential, but its assessment remains challenging. Rui will report the preliminary findings from her study of a conceptual approach to assessment for one-shot library instruction. The study attempts to shed light on developing a valid, reliable, and practical instrument for the conceptual approach to assessment for one-shot library instruction.

4. The discussion session (16 minutes)

5. Introduce two new conveners, Jill Conte and Susan Silver (2 minutes)
