IMLS Calls for Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian Grant Applications

Recently, the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) called upon libraries, archives, and library agencies, associations, and consortia to apply for the Laura Bush 21st Century Librarian grant program.

The program supports efforts to recruit and educate the next generation of librarians and the faculty who will prepare them for careers in library science. It also supports grants for research related to library education and library staffing needs, curriculum development, an early career development program for untenured, tenure-track library and information science faculty, and continuing education and training.

Applications, guidelines, and examples of successful proposals can be found on the agency's Web site at <http://www.ims.gov/applicants/grants/21centuryLibrarian.shtm>.

The application deadline is December 15, 2006. Awards will be announced in mid-June 2007.
